

MONITORING AT 2016 SEJ CONFERENCE

The 2016 SEJ Conference offers us a unique opportunity for every delegate to be engaged in the monitoring process. Following the method employed by GCORR at the 2016 General Conference held in Portland, SEJ delegates will be invited to participate in a self-awareness and self-monitoring practice using the voting instruments made available this year.

As was GCORR's intent, it will be our intent to allow delegates to reflect on their individual behaviors, thoughts, and feelings as we seek to become a more inclusive Christian community seeking to transform the world with our presence. At various times during the plenary sessions, delegates will be asked questions and will use their voting pads to respond. This method of self-monitoring will allow everyone to see the responses of the body and to reflect on what the results might mean.

Our goal is to provide thoughtful opportunities for delegates to increase their self-awareness and, where appropriate, identify possible behavioral adjustments.
